The President's Message

The reasoning in President Truman's message to a joint session of congress on Wednesday may be outlined like this:

1. The United States has been disappointed in its hope of cooperative international security as the fruit of victory in World War I.
2. This is because the Soviet union has systematically blocked a just and honorable peace.
3. Therefore, the United States must fall back on hope of security for itself and its friends by creating a block of like-minded nations, leaving the door open to the Soviet union if it has a change of heart.
4. The bloc must work together not only in the economic field but in the military field. Its members must have some "measure of protection against internal aggression."
5. The United States will work in the economic field through the Marshall plan. Meanwhile, it will match the determination of the free countries to protect themselves, from aggression, while continuing to support the principles and purposes of the United Nations charter—"the basic expression of the code of international ethics to which this country is dedicated."
6. This protection demands three measures. They are speedy enactment of the Marshall plan, prompt enactment of universal military training for long-term military security and immediate re-enactment of the Selective Service act for short-term security.

"We must be ready to take every wise and necessary step to carry out this great purpose," Mr. Truman told the joint session of congress. "This will require assistance to other nations. It will require an adequate and balanced military strength. We must be prepared to pay the price of peace, or assuredly we shall pay the price of war . . . the time has come when the free men and women of the world must face the threat to their liberty squarely and courageously."

The outline does not take into account possible political considerations. These, of course, will be reviewed by the political opposition. That is its function.

Nor does Mr. Truman mention any of the controversial details of the broad measures he proposes. These, too, will be aired in congressional debate.

The fact is that the Marshall plan seems certain to be enacted by congress within a few weeks. There is substantial agreement on its terms.

There is unlikely to be strong opposition to re-enactment of the Selective Service act in view of the fact the armed services have not been brought up to authorized levels of strength by recruiting. Mr. Truman said a year ago he would recommend re-enactment if this happened.

That leaves universal military training as the only real point of controversy. Mr. Truman has asked for its adoption before. Bills are in both houses of congress and debate on them may properly be expected to shed more light on the need for universal training than has yet been evident.

Electoral Checker Game

Top-flight political managers are taking note of a constitutional amendment proposed by Representative Gossett of Texas. The house judiciary committee has reported favorably on it.

The Texas wants to stop the checker game played every four years with electoral votes. He believes these votes reflect the undue influence of minorities in certain pivotal states.

The way his proposed amendment would work resembles proportional representation, now used by some municipalities to control bloc voting. A state's electoral votes, instead of being given to the presidential candidate receiving majority of the state's total votes for president, would be given in proportion to the size of the majority. Thus, in New York state a happy hunting ground for politicians playing the game of minority politics, the fact a presidential candidate might carry the state by rolling up a big total in New York City wouldn't give him all of New York's 47 electoral votes, but only the percentage he had mustered in the popular election.

While Representative Gossett's proposal is another sock at President Truman on the civil rights issue, which southern Democrats interpret as a bid for the support of key minorities in northern pivotal states, it also is a proposal for reform of the electoral college—a matter that has been long neglected.

Another $90,000,000

The department of interior plans to spend $90,000,000 to rehabilitate the Navajo Indians, who undoubtedly need it. The 12,000-odd families of the tribe living under government care are down and out.

But they always have been down and out, in varying degrees. They have been poorly adjusted to the circumstances of their environment; they were that way long before there was a great white father in Washington.

Yet, they have multiplied. There are more of them today than there were at the beginning of the century. All the help they have received, which never has been as much as some thought they should have, hasn't made a dent in the problem of what can be done about human beings with no evident desire to do something about themselves.

"To be successful," says secretary of interior Krug wistfully, "the plan must have the support of the tribe and congress and acceptance by the states and the people adjacent to the reservation." As in all things else that the United States is willing to spend money for, there is no built-in magic in dollars. They must be converted into something useful by the addition of something.

France's War Losses

Whatever its losses in spiritual values and material, France suffered comparatively small casualties in World War II, according to the French veterans affairs ministry. World War I casualties exceeded a million in World War II, dead, wounded and missing totaled less than 100,000. Of the 100,000 captured by the Germans, 80,000 have returned home.

These figures are being forward to the government to enable the claim that France's contribution was es have seriously injured the nation. Actually they are small, so small that the manpower shortage can't be advanced as the reason for the plight France finds itself in today.

The Stars Say

BY GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, March 19

With a canny determination to drag into the open and deal summarily with recent and still pending dangers and devastation of best-laid plans, hopes and desires in all relations and objectives, it is possible that shrewd analysis, deep insight and the use of finesse, diplomacy and sagacious techniques may bring about a revolutionary recovery. In this the personal elements, of charm, social or romantic approach, judiciously utilized, could have sensational affect in recovering lost ground.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have promise of a clever recovery and reconversion from recent disintegrations, calamities or radical spading up from old and established fastnesses, by prudent use of elements and influences built upon personality, popularity, prestige and social or cultural factors, even amplified by charm, beauty or romantic approach, in which personal magnetism has its proper place. Tact and delicacy in this might "move mountains."

A child born on this day has particular equipment for conquering evil and fortifying good by its peculiar tact, prestige and personal charm, prudently "turned on."

Truman Advisers Say He Was Trying To Reach 3 Groups In Talk Wednesday

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, March 18—President Truman was talking in person to congress yesterday—but he hoped Premier Stalin was listening.

Advisers who helped with preparation of the President's speech said the chief executive was seeking to reach three audiences with his report on the state-of-the-world. They put it this way to this reporter:

(1) He wanted to impress upon the Soviet ruler the idea that the United States will fight if Russia goes too far in Europe. Truman wanted to do this because there is a conviction among the President's Russian experts at the State department that Stalin does not want war and will check Communist aggressions when he thinks he has gone as far as he can peacefully.

(2) Truman also was talking to the people of Western Europe, in Italy, and to a lesser extent in France. The Communists have recently gained some followers through a combination of fear and a bandwagon psychology.

A Message For Italy
In Italy some voters are reported to have expressed fear of voting against the Communists in the April 18 elections because they would suffer retaliation if the Communists won. To try to meet this situation the President was advised to picture a powerful America backing up the resistance of the Western European nations to Soviet aggression.

(3) The third audience was the American audience. His remarks focused on the idea which he himself expressed: "We must be prepared to pay the price of peace, or assuredly we shall pay the price of war."

Truman went about as far as his advisers considered he properly could in promising military support for a Western European bloc.

His direct reference to the creation of the western alliance announced at Brussels today linked up with this positive declaration of administration policy.

"I am confident that the United States will, by appropriate means, extend to the free nations the support which the situation requires."

In blaming Russia for the break down of efforts to restore peace to the world and make the United Nations work, the President used harsh blunt language.

Even so the chief executive did not achieve the extremes of oratory reached by Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky when he made Russia's warmonger attack on the United States at the United Nations last fall.

The choice of the President's language was reportedly deliberate. It was another method employed to impress upon the three audiences he was trying to reach—Stalin, Western European peoples and the United States—the seriousness with which this government views the "menace" in Europe.

10 DIE AS B-29 CRASHES AT TAMPA

Army Plane Smashes In Landing Attempt; Five
Are Injured

TAMPA, Fla., March 18—Ten men were killed and four injured early today when a B-29 from the Spokane, Wash., airbase crashed and burned on landing at MacDill field here.

The four survivors were admitted to the base hospital. Their condition was described as "good." The bomber was coming in for a landing in a dense fog when it hit the edge of the runway at the southwest corner of the field. It was reported by Capt. George G. Byrnes, MacDill field public information officer.

The big craft hit the ground, bounced once and then crashed and burned. Wreckage was scattered over a wide area.

Fog was rolling from the bay and hanging the ground about 150 feet thick, Capt. Byrnes said. Apparently it was impossible to pick out the runway quickly.

The plane had stopped at Maxwell field (Montgomery, Ala.) and was arriving at Tampa from that base. It was attached to the 92nd bomb squadron at Spokane. The crash occurred at 2:32 a. m.

The MacDill field accident board began an immediate investigation. The injured men were listed as First Lt. Roy M. Walsh, believed to have been the pilot; First Lt. R. H. Hathaway, Staff Sgt. C. C. Miller and Corp. J. M. Miller. Their home addresses were not immediately available.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Former Youngstown Steel Executive Dead

NEW YORK, March 18—Harry L. Rownd, 80, retired Youngstown steel executive, died in a hospital today of pneumonia.

A native of Zanesville, O., he served as first vice president of the Republic Iron & Steel Co. in Youngstown, but retired before the firm became the Republic Steel Corp.

He was a son of Robert M. Rownd, 103, of Ripley, N. Y., former national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

train for Washington that he could not let Wallace's denunciations during his White House campaign go unchallenged.

First Talks

Truman's message to congress and his speech here were his first public addresses since his open avowal of his candidacy for reelection.

Truman, who delivered several sharp slaps at Russia, gave assurance of U. S. support for European nations still outside the Soviet sphere. He declared a temporary peacetime draft is necessary because enlistments have been decreasing and the armed services are falling steadily below authorized strength.

The draft he proposes can be dropped after universal training has built up a pool of trained reserves, he said.

Truman said adoption of universal training "would serve notice on the world that our pleas for peace were not mere idle words, but that we had the strength to back up our will for peace."

Declaring the American people are willing to "accept our new position of world responsibility," when the main issue is "Tyranny versus Freedom," he said "our faith and our strength must be made unmistakably clear to the world."

APPROVAL

80-word summary of the speech on its early-morning newscast for Russian listeners, without comment.

The Prague radio's commentator said it was significant that Truman's call UMT came while Russia was demobilizing. The Soviet government decreed Tuesday demobilization of all but the 21 and 22-year-old classes, but gave no indication of how big an army would remain.

In Britain, the influential Times of London commented: "If the American congress and people do not respond promptly and in full to its appeal for practical measure, more harm than good may well be gained."

The London Daily Telegraph said: "Communism has lost its bet on the ineptitude and unreadiness of democracy. (The speech) may well rank among the greatest pronouncements in history."

The Communist London Daily Worker said Truman was calling for soldiers "to support the countries of Europe where capitalism is in danger."

Declared the London Daily Express: "The danger exists that Russia will now consider herself more closely threatened than before and react accordingly."

LAUSCHE CHARGES 'SCUTTLE' IN '46

SPRINGFIELD, March 18—Frank J. Lausche claims Democratic party bosses scuttled his chances of being re-elected governor of Ohio in 1946.

Lausche, a long-time opponent of what he describes as "commercial political bosses," made the charge last night at a meeting attended by seven of the nine Democratic county chairmen in the seventh district.

The former governor, seeking the 1948 nomination, asserted:

"If they (the bosses) had stood beside me and gone along with the desires of the people, we would have won despite the trend which was uprooting Democrats from office all over the nation."

After hearing Lausche, Fred Winegardner, former Fayette county Democratic chairman and candidate for attorney general, announced:

"I shall personally back whoever carries the party label in the autumn election, but I believe that should we choose Lausche, we will not have to worry about the outcome of the gubernatorial election."

Lausche and the man regarded as his principal rival for the 1948 nomination—Ray T. Miller of Cleveland—will appear on the same platform tonight in Hamilton.

Miller also was in Springfield last night, although he made no speech. He talked with several political leaders and then announced to newsmen that he was "sure" of support from party organization "in all but 14" of the state's 76 counties. Earlier, at Columbus, he said he had unanimous organization support in 50 counties.

Lausche minimized the Miller threat in his talk.

"Some Democrat leaders of the upper circle are opposing me for the nomination in the May primary," he said, "but they can be counted on the fingers of one hand."

Golf Club Scene Of Party

Women of the Salem Golf club held a lovely dinner party Tuesday evening at the club house, Lisbon rd.

The evening was enjoyed informally and cards were played.

Guilford Community Club Has Social

An enjoyable evening was spent when the Guilford Community club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Whinnery of Guilford recently.

Plans were discussed for playground equipment for the summer at the club house. Cards were the feature of the evening.

The refreshment table was attractively decorated with spring flowers. Lunch was served by Mrs. Whinnery and Mrs. Grimm. A cake in the shape of a spring lamb was given to Miss Sandra Pike.

The next meeting will be at the club house April 10.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT

Women's memories in most fields are far superior to those of men, says a statistics professor who recently completed a five-year survey on the subject.

He must be right. It's a woman who interrupts a man's story with, "No, dear, it wasn't in January. It was in March. I remember because it was when Junior had the measles, and he didn't come down with measles until after Aunt Susie visited us, and she was with us the last two weeks in February."

It's a woman who remembers to wonder whether or not she left the electric iron connected.

It's a woman who remembers that it is getting late, just when her husband is starting to have a good time at a party.

It's a woman who never forgets that her husband once forgot.

It's a woman who remembers that her husband has told the same story to the same people before.

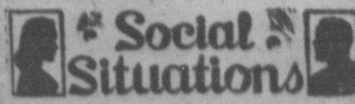

COAT OF MANY YEARS

It's a woman who remembers exactly how many years she has worn her only coat.

It's a woman who remembers the time a man made a fool of himself over some other woman.

It's a woman who remembers the career she gave up to marry.

Sure, women have better memories than men. Any married man will agree to that.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You receive a gift through the mail.

WRONG WAY: Wait for several weeks to write your thank-you letter.

RIGHT WAY: Write your thank-you letter immediately. That is the surest way of making the sender feel that you really appreciate the gift. The sooner a thank-you note is written the more effective it is.

Victorian Era Regains Youth

A Victorian flavor spices these teen-age cottons for spring and summer. The youthful record-player, left, wears a white blouse which has a black ribbon-run neckline and eyelet ruffled puffed sleeves with a full cotton skirt flounced around the hem with more eyelet ruffles. Pink flowered organdy peeps out from beneath her pink pique dress, center, which has a bustle bow of matching organdy. Accenting the back of paisley-print dress, right, are twin loops of fishtail ruffles that tie in a bustle bow.

PUSH PROJECT AT COLUMBIANA

Plan To Begin Work Soon On Enlargement of High School

COLUMBIANA, March 18—Work is to begin soon on the enlargement of the high school building, for which the $335,000 in bonds will be delivered April 1 to the McDonald Co., the Cleveland bank which purchased them. It is the aim to have the enlarged building ready for the opening of school next September.

Supt. H. P. Richmond was before council Tuesday evening in behalf of the board of education with a request for the vacation of the east-west alley separating the main part of the school site from its tract on the north side of the alley on which the public library is situated. The alley will be part of the ground occupied by the new gymnasium.

Vacation is also asked for about 240 feet of the north-south alley along the west side of the school premises, for which the school board proposes to deed to the municipality a strip 20 feet wide for alley purposes, that it is purchasing from the rear of the S. Main st. properties of the Union Banking Co., Mrs. Virginia Feiger, the Troll heirs, and P. M. Koch. These lots will be 160 feet long after the alley strip is taken.

The plan will make a jog in the alley from the north line of Grace church premises to a point near the north property line of the Union Banking Co. It is expected that the alley will be paved.

The school building will project seven feet into the present alley along the stretch to be vacated. It will be three feet from the sewer line in the alley, which it is hoped it may not be necessary to relocate, but it will involve a change in the gas line.

Council will advertise the request for alley vacations, which will be for hearing in about six weeks.

Members of council decided to add a fourth member to the cemetery board. Mayor Gormley appointed Herbert Noaln and the appointment was confirmed.

Favor Fast Time
Council decided to follow the lead of Youngstown in the adoption of fast time.

A resolution was adopted permitting the state highway department to improve Route 46 in town from its intersection with Route 164 at the Y in the north part of town the short distance to the north corporation line, where the highway enters Mahoning county. The highway, already hard-surfaced, is to be improved to Canfield.

Expert Foresees No Quick Drop In Used Car Prices

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT—If you think the bottom is dropping out of the used car market your thinking is a bit premature.

Prices have been at low levels for several months but are again starting upward. Most industry observers believe the rise will continue slowly until August 1. Then, they say, another decline may be expected. How far it may go will depend upon many factors.

Chief among these, of course, will be the availability of new cars in the retail market. Another will be the new car price schedules. A sizeable advance in retail listings undoubtedly will send many more customers to the used car lots.

Regardless of this year's production volume many thousands of persons seeking automobiles this summer will have to get them from used car sources. Most industry experts believe the big upsurge in new car output this year will come during the third and fourth quarters.

Shutdown Will Hurt
Certainly the Ford shutdown, which will take between 80,000 and 100,000 units out of the second quarter volume will send many would-be buyers to the used car lots. It has been estimated the Ford shutdown will last at least six weeks. It will come at a time when demand customarily begins to increase.

The industry's chroniclers are agreed the day of fantastic prices for used cars is past. While prices will go up as the summer approaches they will not touch the levels of a year ago.

Used car merchandisers in most major centers are well stocked with 1946 and 1947 models. They have had to carry many of these through what has been termed the "worst winter" in several decades. In most instances they paid more than retail list prices for the used vehicles.

But for the most part the dealers now are back in the profit-making period. They will recoup whatever losses they incurred—provided they have survived the winter decline.

Most recent surveys indicate the average car owner desiring to sell his car at a profit will find the going much tougher during the latter months of this year.

Ever since automobiles got back into production thousands of individual owners have sought to make quick profits by selling their cars at high prices. In some instances, where they have been fortunate enough to obtain two or more new vehicles, they have come out of the several transactions with a new car at no cost to themselves.

But opportunities for this sort of "horse-trading" rapidly are disappearing. By next autumn it may be virtually impossible to sell a used car at more than list price.

This conviction is based on the understanding used car dealers generally are planning to proceed cautiously after this summer's demand has been met. Because of their experience of the 1947-48 winter they will not load up on any models—excepting at their own prices.

All this well could be a natural preliminary to the return of the buyer's market. Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth reportedly have unfilled orders now for close to 2,500,000 passenger cars alone. But even the most searching surveys do not disclose how many of these are duplicated orders.

And whatever happens in the Chevrolet-Ford-Plymouth market will happen, in larger degree, in the market for all other makes of cars. If the delay between order and delivery for Chevrolets, Fords and Plymouths is narrowed down to a matter of a few weeks, immediate delivery will be available for just about all other makes.

Traffic Violators Sent To Movie For Lesson
CHICAGO—Judge John P. Griffin is treating traffic violators to a movie.

"Young traffic violators especially will have to watch 'Highway Maniac,' then come back and tell me if they learned a lesson," Griffin said.

He continues the charges against drivers until they report back. The judge said he believes the lesson the film indicates is more effective than sending traffic law violators to look at auto accident victims in the Cook County Hospital, as he did in the past.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT KILLS STUDENT

Bowling Green State Frosh Dies of Shot Fired From Nearby Dormitory

BOWLING GREEN, March 18—
An 18-year-old Bowling Green State university premedical student died of a bullet wound early today, apparently the victim of a supposedly empty pistol fired at least 140 feet away.

Wood County Prosecutor Floyd
A. Collier and Police Chief Guy Spit-ler said the dead youth was Charles Wentzel, Centerburg, O., Freshman, who was in his own first-floor dormitory room when a bullet shattered a window, striking him in the head.

Fired Out Window
The two officials said Jim Singler, 21-year-old former seminary novitiate from Sandusky, O., was being held without charge pending a coroner's inquest later today.

Collier and Spitler said Singler admitted firing a Belgian 9 millimeter pistol from his second-story dormitory window but maintained he thought the weapon was unloaded.

Singler, they said, attended the Sacred Heart seminary, Geneva, Ill., for three years before entering Bowling Green State as a Freshman this year.

From Singler, Collier and Spitler said, they obtained this story:
He was listening to a radio program in his own room last night when he decided to toy with one of several foreign-made guns owned by a roommate, Dean McKinnon, 21, a Sophomore of Bethesda, Md.

He pointed it through an open window and pulled the trigger.

When the gun discharged, he dropped it and walked to the dormitory office where another student, Jerome Weiss, 18, of Cleveland, appeared, saying Wentzel had been shot.

After Wentzel was removed to a hospital, Singler told campus policeman Harold Travis about firing the Belgian pistol. He was taken to county jail for further questioning.

TELLS CONGRESS

he said a superior air force must be included in the things considered by congress. Taft, a foe of universal military training, did not comment on Truman's draft request.

Before the senate armed services committee, Marshall remedied Truman's failure to mention air power in his message. He said a "reconsideration" of the nation's air program was necessary along with the draft and universal training.

And committee Chairman Chan
handed slap at those who thought air power alone was enough. He said bases must be guarded by committee members asked Secy.
ground troops.

Marshall why both a draft and

Truck Drivers' Strike Hurts Gas Supply

AKRON, March 18—A strike of 130 truck drivers today began to dry up gasoline and fuel oil supplies in three counties.

Frank Coleman, business agent of the AFL-Truck Drivers Local 348, said deliveries to 11 of 13 companies in Summit, Portage and part of Medina county had been halted.

The Medina county area was described as from Medina southward.
Drivers for Standard Oil Co. and Sun Oil Co. are not unionized, but Coleman predicted they would honor picket lines.

Companies involved in the wage dispute which began yesterday are:
Cities Service Co., Shell Oil Co.,
Socony Vacuum Co., Gulf Oil Co., Sinclair Oil Co., Pure Oil Co., Benzaco Oil Co., Factory Oil Co., Ross Independent Oil Co., Cotten Oil Co., and Marsh Oil Co.

Coleman said the 11 handled 70 per cent of the gasoline and fuel oil sold in the area. Oil for both automobile and furnace consumption was affected.

There was no immediate comment from the companies, but the union leader said their supplies would be exhausted within two or three days.

Word of the dispute spread quickly and cars soon began to line up at filling stations. One had a string of customers a block long.

The drivers are asking a 30-cent hourly pay boost. They have been offered 5 1/2 cents.

Objector Asks Truman To Revoke His Rights

CLEVELAND, March 18—Conscientious Objector Lee Donald Stern says he wants his civil rights revoked again.

"I want no privileges still denied to thousands of my brothers," he asserted.

President Truman recently included Stern in an amnesty restoring political and civil rights to certain draft law violators.

"Please reinstate me as an unpardoned ex-felon until such time as you can graciously acknowledge the fundamental right of all men to refuse to participate in mass murder," Stern wrote Truman yesterday.

Stern, who failed to report to a Coshocton, O., service camp in August of 1942, served four years in the federal penitentiary at Milan, Mich. He was released in January, 1946.
